Dear Dave,

Attached is the final draft of the report you reviewed entitled "Columbia River Temperature Assessment: Simulation Methods." The peer review process was opened to other interested parties and Potlatch Corporation, US Army Corps of Engineers and the Bonneville Power Administration submitted reviews. All peer review comments submitted in electronic form are attached to the final report, as well as the responses to the comments.

An effort was made to respond to all comments and it is our belief that the temperature assessment was improved significantly by the review process.

Thank you for your contribution to EPA's peer review process.

Sincerely,

John Yearsley
Environmental Scientist
